

OGC November 2019 Hilltop Highlights Newsletter Submission

In the September edition of the Hilltop highlights Anita Romaine, president of the Oceana Website Committee encouraged everyone to start using the Oceana Seniors website to keep informed of issues affecting Oceana residents, track calendar events and to discover activities available for residents. Set your home page to <https://oceanaseniors.org>.

This year the Oceana Garden club officers placed a high priority upon building community by increasing social events for garden club members and building a communications network using email and text. OGC members have been notified of meetings and events, warned of rattlesnakes in the garden and reminded of the street sweeping that takes place on the first and third Friday of each month. All this was done via email and text. These efforts have produced obvious results. The Oceana Garden club is currently a positive, cohesive community of friendly gardeners. The officers are hopeful that our members will take the next step toward electronic communication by using the Oceana Seniors website.

The Oceana Garden Club has a web page on the Oceana website

Posted on our OGC web page are photos of current members with their harvests and OGC events. Also posted are the OGC Charter, OGC Standing Rules and Procedural Guidelines, OGC meeting minutes and past Hilltop Highlight submissions. You will also find articles with information useful to gardeners.

Oceana Garden club members are encouraged to use the Oceana website and our own club web page. It is hoped that your frequent use of the garden club web page will support our efforts to sustain and build our Oceana Garden Club community.

Please send your OGC photos, articles and or recipes to stephen@7palmsoceana.com.

November is a good time to continue planting cool weather crops such as beets, carrots, kale, kohlrabi, lettuce, mustard greens, radishes, spinach, and turnips from seeds. If you're late then planting there's still time transplant broccoli, Brussels sprouts, cabbage, cauliflower, celery, parsley and swiss chard as well as globe onions (Granex keeps better than Grano and Crystal Wax varieties). It's also a good time to plant garlic.
